

Stephan Pascall

Stephan Pascall obtained a B.Sc. (Hons) in Electronic Engineering at the City University London and a Ph.D. on work in artificial intelligence. A manager with extensive engineering and policy background and over 30 years' experience with the telecommunications and space industries and the European Commission in telecommunications, space communications, advanced mobile services, trust and confidence, learning and culture, regional development, environment and transport. Stephan Pascall experience in telecommunications and space covers policy, regulation and technology as well as the development and management of all aspects of EU technology and implementation programmes.

Stephan Pascall has an extensive understanding of the political and technological developments and status of the Central and Eastern European Countries. Stephan Pascall has played an active role in sensitive high level international negotiations both with the EU member states and with the various public and industrial organisations.

Stephan Pascall has extensive financial and management experience in leading skilled professional teams in achieving complex and challenging objectives with concrete results. Stephan Pascall is a recognised authority in Space Communications as well as an author of a number of books and publications in this and other subjects.